

ANGELA KOTHE

5800 Bay Shore Rd, Box 546, Sarasota, FL 34243

📞 (941) 323-6305 ✉ angela.kothe18@ncf.edu 🌐 annkothe.github.io

Education

Bachelor of Arts in Political Science

New College of Florida, the Honors College of Florida

May 2022

Sarasota, FL

Relevant Coursework

- Political Geography
- Politics that Presidents Make
- R for GIS
- Quantitative Political Analysis I and II
- Research Design Workshop
- Language and Politics

Research Experience

Honors Thesis

Pluralism in Political Time: A Theory of Political Transition

Aug. 2021 – Present

Sarasota, FL

- Analyze Canadian institutions to formulate a theory of plural democracy
- Scrutinize theoretical conclusions using Stata
- Visualize election data using GIS tools in R
- Defend written arguments before a committee in Spring 2022

Research Assistant, Political Behavior Lab

Dr. Jack Reilly, New College of Florida, Department of Political Science

Aug. 2021 – Present

Sarasota, FL

- Locate data on schools and racial demographics in Sarasota, Florida
- Make maps using R to illustrate data trends

Independent Research Project, Missouri State Politics Project

Dr. Jack Reilly, New College of Florida, Department of Political Science

Jan. 2021

Sarasota, FL

- Tabulated data on Missouri and nine similar states
- Forecasted long-term partisan trends in a written report

Independent Research Project, the History and Formation of St. Louis, Missouri

Dr. Brendan Goff, New College of Florida, Department of History

Jan. 2020

Sarasota, FL

- Surveyed the literature on midwestern history to illuminate political trends
- Composed an annotated bibliography to review the findings

Other Related Experience

Teaching Assistant, Introduction to American Politics

Dr. Jack Reilly, New College of Florida, Department of Political Science

Feb. 2021 – May 2021

Sarasota, FL

- Reviewed lectures, syllabi, and exams for errors
- Logged, organized, and assisted in evaluating student assignments
- Served as a judge during formal class debates

Politics that Presidents Make

Dr. Michael Gorup, New College of Florida, Department of Political Science

Aug. 2020 – Dec. 2020

Sarasota, FL

- Designed a half credit course to study Skowronek's theory of political time
- Interpreted the theory in 3 research papers

Skills and Certifications

- Data Analysis Tools: R and Stata
- Other Software: L^AT_EX, Git, and GitHub
- Programming: C#, HTML, ASP.NET, and Visual Basic
- Certifications: Microsoft Technology Associate - C# Software Development

Languages

- Basic competency in French

Leadership and Community Involvement

New College Democrats

2020 – Present

Vice President

New College of Florida

- Planned and participated in voter registration drives
- Collected and verified data on roughly 200 voters

Generation Action

2018 – 2020

Secretary

New College of Florida

- Conducted informational events about bills in the state legislature
- Participated in phone banks to lobby legislators

Other Community Involvement

- Society of Physics Students
- Democracy Matters

Professional Memberships

- Midwest Political Science Association
- American Political Science Association

Awards and Honors

APSA Diversity Fellowship

2022 – 2023